Mountain Fuel District Manager Retires

4-10-91

Fred Clark

Fred Clark retired March 31 as district manager for Mountain Fuel's Heber District. The Heber District includes Wasatch and Summit Counties.

Clark joined Mountain Fuel in 1942 in Provo. He and his wife,

Leota, brought their family to Heber City in 1963 when natural gas service was extended to the valley.

In an arrangement typical of Mountain Fuel at the time, the Clarks worked together in the Heber residence/office. Fred handled everything from meter reading to customer service while Leota took care of the business office. With Leota's retirement in 1988, the last residence/office in the company's system was remodeled to accommodate the company's expanded activities in the area.

During Clark's tenure as manager, the number of customers in the district grew from the original 85 to more than 10,000. He retired with 49 years of service, the most for any employee in Mountain Fuel's 62-year history.

Clark has been active in civic organizations, particularly the Rotary Club. He also served on the Wasatch County Fair Board for several years.

Don Pino now is the manager responsible for all Heber Service Center activities. Pino has been with Mountain Fuel 25 years and previously was a customer service foreman at the company's Salt Lake South Service Center.
